Monthly Safety Meeting Popular With Employees At North Portal

Illustrations, Drawings And Discussion Among Groups Make Meetings Interest All

At a regular monthly safety meeting held recently by the Employment, Housing and Insurance Offices, at the North Portal, two important points were illustrated by Arnold Tiller, Supervisor of the Housing and Insurance Department and chairman of the safety meeting.

Safety Points Illustrated

One of the points centered around the recent Christmas season, which presents several hazards to homes and offices. All the necessary precautions were illustrated such as not overloading electric circuits, checking light sockets, keeping the sand wet around the tree, keeping the tree away from heaters, supporting the tree well, inspecting light cords and no smoking or open flame allowed near the tree. Most of these safety points may be followed at anytime during the year to protect our lives and homes.

Traffic Conditions Cited

The second point of the meeting explained the difference between traffic conditions in the summer as those during the winter season. Driving conditions are much better in the summer due to drier roads, daylight, clear weather, clear vision and an open car to allow fresh air to enter. Winter brings a closed automobile, wet roads, more night, inclement weather, fog, snow and ice. Driving gets to be a game with many people, betting not money, but their lives they can get to work and back speedily without taking proper precautions, so all Y-12ers are again reminded, you only lose once.

Safety Meetings Interesting

Interest in the monthly safety meetings for plant employees at the North Portal has greatly increased through illustrations, drawings and through group participation in question and answer sessions.

Awards Probably Picked

Barring any unforeseen circumstances the Safety Award Selection Committee should have picked the individual awards for the 3,126,787-hour period of accident-free operations in Y-12 by the time The Bulletin hits the streets this week. This was an all-time safety record for all plants in the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Company.

All Y-12 employees on the payroll between July 30 through November 20 of last year are eligible for the individual awards valued at $5 each. Three of the awards are to be suitable for men, three for women and one appropriate for either.

The articles were to be selected from the following group:

Electric alarm clock, steak knife set, wrench set, casting rod, card table, ice crusher, kitchen clock, carving set, travel iron, bathroom scales, canister set, Scotch Kooler.

Y-12 Shift Employees Respond To UT Offer

Considerable interest has been shown in Y-12 in regard to enrolling for the college credit courses being offered by the University of Tennessee Extension Service.

All shift employees interested in the program are urged to fill out the survey form which is available at the Y-12 Plant Shift Supervisors office in the Dispensary building on First St., and return it to the Plant Shift Supervisors office, Bldg. 9706-2.

Results of the survey from Y-12, K-25 and the Oak Ridge National Laboratory will determine if there is sufficient interest to offer the desired courses.

College Credit Given

University authorities have announced the new program will enable shift employees to study courses with college credit given in engineering and business administration. The plan involves double sessions of classes whereby material used at the morning class will be repeated at the evening session. The shift employee can attend either class, depending on his work schedule. All classes will be held at the Oak Ridge High School.

Several Courses Suggested

Courses offered will be determined by the shift workers themselves and some of the courses suggested on the survey from include mathematics refresher, beginning engineering mathematics, general chemistry, machine shop, engineering drawing, slide rule, business law and accounting. Shift employees interested in other courses are asked to make their suggestions.

L. B. Emlet Named Production Head At Three Carbide Installations; Humes Goes To Canada With UCC

New Plant Head Has Been With Company Since 1931; Came Here From Paducah After Serving As Superintendent Since June 1, 1951

John P. Murray, former head of the gaseous diffusion plant at Paducah, was named Y-12 Plant Superintendent effective January 1, 1954 and at the same time Logan B. Emlet, former Y-12 Superintendent, was named to the position of Manager of Production in charge of the Y-12 and K-25 plants in Oak Ridge and the gaseous diffusion plant in Paducah, Ky.

Emlet succeeds William B. Humes who has transferred to Union Carbide Canada Limited, in Toronto, Canada. Clark E. Center, vice-president of Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Company in charge of the atomic energy activities here, announced the personnel changes.

Murray Well Known By Y-12ers

Murray is well known to many Y-12ers and other Oak Ridge people. He and his wife Lucille and three children John Patrick, Ann Marshall and Melissa Lou, ages 12, nine and three, respectively, will move to Oak Ridge in the near future.

Murray Has 23 Years with Carbide

He has been employed with Carbide since 1931. He took his first job in the Research Division at the South Charleston, W. Va. plant. Spending fourteen years in South Charleston, he also was associated in the "Vinylite" Production Division and was a major area supervisor at the time of his transfer to Oak Ridge and the K-25 plant in 1945.

At K-25 Murray served as Area Supervisor, Plant General Foreman and Superintendent of the Process Division, before being appointed Superintendent of the Paducah Plant on June 1, 1951.

Emlet has been the Y-12 Plant Superintendent since May 1, 1952. He entered the field of atomic energy in January, 1943 when he was transferred to the Manhattan District Metallurgical Laboratory at the University of Chicago by duPont for work in conjunction with the development of plutonium reactors for Oak Ridge and Hanford, Wash. He came to Oak Ridge initially in June of 1943 as assistant superintendent of the pile area at Clinton Laboratories (now Oak Ridge National Laboratory). He was promoted to superintendent of the pile area in 1944 and remained in that capacity until October, 1945, when he returned to duPont.

Emlet Returns To Ridge

Emlet returned to Oak Ridge in June, 1946, as director of the operations division of Clinton Laboratories for Monsanto Chemical Company and subsequently be-

Former Y-12er Back From Air Force Duty

C. E. Kirkwood

Returning to work at Y-12 on December 9 was Charley Kirkwood, of Utilities Maintenance Department. Charley left Y-12 to enter the United States Air Force on January 2, 1951, serving a stretch of 33 months.

Charley is a native of Mayfield, Ky., but is remembered by many old time Y-12ers as an outstanding athlete at the Oak Ridge High School. He continues his fine basketball playing with the Y-12 Cardinals this season. He is not married as yet and resides in Oak Ridge at 100 Kingfisher Lane.

Moved About During Service

Charley was somewhat of a nomad while serving the stretch with Uncle Sam and must hold the world's record for moving about during his service stint.

He received his basic training at Lackland Air Base, San Antonio, Tex., and from there was sent to Oklahoma A & M for two months training as an automotive repairman. From Oklahoma A & M, he was sent to Dow Air Base, Bangor, Me., for six months and Charley says "The deer hunting sure was fine in the New England country." Next stop for Charley was at Warren Air Base, Cheyenne, Wyo., to train for a senior automotive repairman for a five months span and then his complete outfit was shipped to Alexandria Air Base in Alexandria, La. The Air Force next called him to Camp Stoneman, Calif., to get ready to be shipped overseas to Elmendorf Air Base in Anchorage, Alaska.

Served In Alaska

While in Alaska, he served most of his hitch in the autumn season where the temperature got to five degrees below zero. Charley states "The Eskimos seemed to be a friendly type of people but one thing I could never get used to was going to bed at midnight and the sun be shining.

Even though he enjoyed the 33 months of Air Force service, Charley says "I certainly am glad to get back home and renew acquaintances around Y-12 and Oak Ridge."
